

CANINE ACADEMICS

Canine Academics offers training through classes and private training sessions focusing on helping you keep appropriate dogs in their loving homes.

Is your dog barking? Fearful? Reactive to Other Dogs, people, or objects (cars, bicycles, scooters)? Afraid your dog might bite you or another human? Canine Academics focuses on behavior modification based on the science of behavior using successfully tested methods.

Or do you have the perfect puppy or dog who just needs some basic structure and obedience training – we can help you, too!

Join us at the Napa Valley Dog Training Club on Monday, June 9 to talk about our approach to training. During our session, we will talk about developing a way to communicate with your dog through consistent reinforcement of desired behaviors, the importance of recognizing antecedent, behavior and consequences, and the impact that has on your dog. Learn how to read canine body language to determine if your dog can train at that moment, in that environment or what adjustments you might need to make so that your dog is able to train. Make decisions on whether you can train, need to manage or need to escape or exit a situation. Learn to understand how this helps meet training goals.
